

PM IMS Visits Wounded Warriors at Walter Reed

On 7 April 2011, members of Product Manager Intelligent Munitions System (PM IMS) traveled to the Walter Reed Army Medical Center in Washington, DC, to pay tribute to wounded warriors recovering there. This annual event is a great opportunity for Department of Army civilians and military to honor injured service men and women. "This was truly a very touching and rewarding experience for all of us who visited. It gave us a greater appreciation for the sacrifices our heroes are making for all of us who enjoy the freedom we have today in our great country," said LTC James Dell'Olio.

The team delivered gift bags and personal care items to Soldiers recuperating from traumatic injuries. The mission would not have been as successful without the support from the Picatinny community. The team raised over $3,000 to support the initiative through generous contributions and donations from across the Arsenal. "We thank them for their outstanding support through gift cards and other items donated to the wounded warriors and their families," added Dell'Olio. Items included portable DVD players, computer bags, toiletries, luggage, and various clothing. Individual gift bags for soldiers contained iPod nanos, various gift cards, and thank you cards.
